

Pirate Relief ...

- We are a roving band of pirates, gypsies, artists, musicians, environmentalists, scientists, & relief volunteers who are striving to bring together a fleet of tall sailing ships to sail the seven seas to ports around the world - sharing art, music, drama, theater, folklore, performance, storytelling, history, & culture to those we encounter. We are to share the wealth of the Living Myth.
- When able to assist in coastal disaster areas - we plan to set into port to uplift the spirits of those who had their lives affected - bringing back hope to the hopeless, guidance to the lost, and insight to the inquisitive ... sharing whatever resources we have on board or the crew has to offer - whether uplift of spirit through entertainment, stories of hope, supplies, medical aid, arts, education, inspiration, or a helping hand. We are also working on environmental ecological tragedy by approaching areas affected such as tradjedies like the Gulf oil spill, the Pacific Trash Island, and how to address pollution issues with our waterways.

An Arts Project & Organization Celebrating the Living Myth

- We are targeting our concerns by embracing ecological and sustainability ideas for a new approach to living, caring for the environment, mobility, and keeping culture, arts, & sciences alive.

Through Storytelling and the Arts - The Living Myth shall live on!

Project Gypsy

Until we raise the capital to buy or build a tall ship (the first of many) ... We are assembling our caravan of gypsy performers to start spreading the word of our goals, to assist in relief issues we encounter that we have the ability to assist with, and working on ecological/ sustainable projects.

We are building a mobile community of artisans, scientists, dedicated talent, and helping hands to bring this Living Myth into our reality ...

Our first goal is setting up our home base on the coast where we can begin our quest ....

- * Caravans & Vardos
- * Coastal Home Base
- * Crew of Talents
- * Mermaid Temple

Project Black Pearl

The Building of our fleet will start with a simple small vessel that we'll start operations from as we gain funding to buy or build our first of many tall ships in replica style of many historic Pirate vessels out there like the Black Pearl ... A ship who can house a crew of 40 or more, a cargo hold capable of holding the supplies we'll need for our ventures and relief efforts, an onboard museum to keep the history of the Living Myth alive, and all the standards we need for a sustainable lifestyle on the sea or along the coastlines ... We will continue to harvest ships until we have a strong fleet that can sail off to assist uplifting spirit and bringing back joy to the disenchanted wherever we are needed ....

Project Pacific Trash Island

We've learned of the growing ecological catastrophe brewing in the Pacific Ocean the size of two Texas sized land-masses of trash and litter nestling in the middle of the ocean currents. Abhorred that this issue is not being addressed, we are looking into recycling and renewal technologies to help break up Trash Island. From floating islands to renewable energy ... our research team is brain-scheming for our first of many ecological battles to tackle ...

Project Sustainability

The world is simply not taking care of the Earth and her oceans. Oil, plastics, toxins, and waste are being dumped into our lifestream daily .... We're looking into ideas and solutions to help. We are striving to live a more sustainable and ecological lifestyle with a focus on community. With one of the world's most tragic environmental Disasters - the Deepwater Horizon Oil Spill in our backyard, we are looking into projects that we can help with to revitalize the environment, assist the wildlife affected, and help rehabilitate the damages of this and other catastrophes are causing. We hope to educate the public about these issues through art, music, theater, and storytelling ... bringing to fruition the Living Myth .... getting involved in any way we can. Mobility by wind, alternative fuels, and energies. Renewal and Sustainable technologies in which to effect change on the planet ....
